

Philosophy On Fees

You deserve to keep more of your equity. After all, it is yours. Why agree to and pay a realtor outdated commission rates. Six percent real estate commissions predate the current market trends and equate to a market dynamic prior to information being on the Internet and home prices increasing to today's levels. The current tools and marketplace allow me to complete transactions more proficiently, and the savings should be passed on to you the homeowner. I offer an all-inclusive, full-service realty listing transaction at a lower cost (4.5-5%) where we all win. Thus, before you decide and select your agent a quick comparison will cost you little but can save you plenty while maintaining professional service and completing the transaction.